

Motorola Recognizes Wireless Broadband Channel Partners For Sales Achievements, Customer Excellence

Motorola Channel Partners Thriving in Wireless Broadband, Recognized at Motorola's 4th Annual Channel Partner Summit

SCHAUMBURG, IL - December 19, 2008 – Motorola Inc. (NYSE: MOT) announced the winners of its annual wireless broadband channel partner awards, recognizing authorized Motorola Government and Public Safety business channels across North America for their outstanding sales efforts and customer excellence. The awards were presented recently at Motorola's 2008 Wireless Broadband Channel Partner Summit.

In addition to naming sales and customer excellence winners for specific regions throughout North America, Motorola also recognized Winncom Technologies of Solon, Ohio as the 2008 Wireless Broadband Distributor of the Year.

Winncom Technologies is a worldwide distributor and provider of wireless and wired networking solutions. Winncom was recognized for its highest percentage of growth over the previous year for sales in, sales out and orders.

"It is a great honor to win Motorola's Wireless Broadband Distributor of the Year award," said Aaron Savy, director of sales and marketing, Winncom Technologies Corp. "Winncom thanks Motorola for its outstanding support and service. The broad product portfolio allows Winncom to effectively promote its full suite of products and technology. We are very proud of this achievement and look forward to an even more successful 2009."

The following Value Added Resellers were recognized by Motorola for the highest sales growth in the past year:

West region: Day Wireless Systems; Portland, Ore.
East region: Stonecrop Technologies; Pembroke, Mass.
Federal: Direct Network Services; Littleton, Mass
Canada: Nova Tronics, Dartmouth; Nova Scotia, Canada

Customer excellence awards were presented to the following Value Added Resellers:

West region: Cascade; Long View, Wash.
Central region: Robert Stanley Company; Greeley, Col.
Northeast region: Scientel; Lombard, Ill.
Southeast region: Rapid Systems; Tampa, Fla.
Canada: MBSI; Medicine Hat, Alberta, Canada

"We congratulate all of our 2008 wireless broadband channel partner award winners for their outstanding efforts and contributions toward showcasing and selling Motorola's wireless broadband portfolio," said Sal LoSchiavo, Motorola director of Wireless Broadband Channels. "All of our channel partners across North America play a valuable role in promoting our wireless broadband solutions, and today we specifically thank these award winners for their significant achievements in 2008."

LoSchiavo said Motorola's wireless broadband portfolio continues to evolve bringing new and improved solutions to life every quarter. "This comprehensive portfolio continues to create enhanced opportunities for our channel partners to grow and build their sales in 2009," he said.

Motorola's wireless broadband portfolio includes point-to-multipoint solutions, point-to-point solutions, MOTOMESH™ and One Point Wireless Suite and private broadband networks.
